

Our Mission Statement

The Humanities department aims to help our students become effective communicators and literate individuals who can:

- Apply academic skills and find connections across disciplines and in their own lives.
- Appreciate the power of language to enrich meaning.
- Analyze how historic forces have shaped our world.
- Appreciate how literature enriches and enlightens culture.
- Set, achieve, and reflect on personal and collective goals through challenging and rewarding work.
- Approach learning with a sense of responsibility, risk-taking, and intellectual curiosity.
- Make responsible and ethical decisions in regard to their interactions as members of their class and their school.
- Recognize interdependence in a global community.
- Develop a worldview characterized by empathy and a sense of service.
